LAWYER FOR STEEL FIRM TAKES LIFE

Suicide Of Counsel Interrupts Injunction Trial In Ohio

Youngstown, Ohio, June 27.—(AP)—Trial of suit for injunction to prevent merger of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation came to an abrupt halt today when L. A. Manchester, chief counsel for the Youngstown Company, shot and killed himself.

Motive for Manchester's suicide was not immediately known.

Trial Recessed

Judge David G. Jenkins was informed Manchester had shot himself as court was being opened for the third day of the trial. He ordered adjournment until Tuesday July 8.

The shooting took place in Manchester's office. The fact that he was dead was withheld for several minutes.

The dramatic interlude in the trial followed two days of opening statements and introduction of voluminous correspondence files as evidence. The taking of testimony was to start today with J. A. Campbell, veteran chairman of the board for the Youngstown company, on the stand.

Manchester had been associated with Campbell and the Sheet & Tube Company since organization of the firm. Until 1917 he handled legal matters for the company while a member of the firm of Hine, Kennedy, Manchester & Ford.

Was General Counsel

In 1917 he left the law firm to become General Counsel of the Youngstown Company. He was married and had one daughter.

J. C. Argetinger, Associate General Counsel of the Youngstown company, heard the shot with which Manchester killed himself. He rushed into his office, located on the public square, and found the body slumped in a chair at a desk. Manchester had shot himself in the right temple.

Argetinger declared the suicide was caused by a nervous breakdown due to overwork.

Manchester was reported to have been in a melancholy mood for the past two months and associates said he was particularly depressed last night. His death occurred at 8:55, just five minutes before court opened.

Seemed Brighter

Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel Corporation, was another to see the attorney shortly before the suicide. Grace said Manchester seemed "brighter and happier" than at any time since the merger fight started.

In the steel trial Manchester was associated with former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, who is acting as chief counsel for the various defendants in the suit.

The suit was brought by Myron C. Wick, Jr., of Cleveland and the International Share Corporation's stockholders against the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company and directors. Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland millionaire, is reputed backer of the anti-merger groups.

The merger was voted by the stockholders April 8, 1930, and the present injunction suit seeks to have Mahoning county Common Pleas Court declare it illegal and void.

Infernal Machine In Auto Kills One

Amarillo, Texas, June 27.—(AP)—Mrs. A. D. Payne, wife of a well known Amarillo attorney, was killed and her 14-year-old son probably fatally injured today when the Payne automobile was destroyed by what police believe was an infernal machine.

The boy was hurled thirty feet into the yard. The chassis of the car was left intact and the gas tank was undamaged.

Bits of wiring and pieces of dry cell batteries were found by detectives in the wreckage, and they said they believed either dynamite or some other powerful explosive had been placed in the automobile.

Payne had been a candidate for District Judge but recently withdrew. He had participated as an attorney in several sensational murder cases in the Texas Panhandle during the past year.

FOUND DEAD IN DESERT

Phoenix, Ariz., June 27.—(AP)—The body of an elderly man, dead sometime, was found in the desert near Buckeye, 30 miles west of here, last night. Officials said the description tallied in some respects with that of the Rev. Thomas Howard, Minnesota minister, missing since June 7.

ASSOCIATED PRESS
CONG. STEPHEN G. PORTER

Pittsburgh, June 27.—(UP)—Congressman Stephen G. Porter, 62, died today in the Allegheny General Hospital after an illness of several months.

Porter represented the 32nd Pennsylvania Congressional district. He had been in a Pittsburgh hospital for three weeks after being brought here from Washington where he had been under treatment for a liver disease.

Porter recently led a strenuous drive to push through Congress a new narcotic bill, bearing his name.

Porter first served in Congress from 1903 to 1906. He again was elected in 1911 and had served continuously since.

In 1919 Porter was elected chairman of the Congressional committee on Foreign Affairs. He was co-author of the Knox-Porter peace resolution which was the basis for the treaties with Germany and Austria-Hungary after the World War.

He was a member of the advisory committee to the Washington conference on armament limitation in 1921 and in 1922 represented the United States at the centennial of Brazil's independence.

In 1923 he was appointed to represent the United States in Geneva on the narcotic problem and was re-appointed chairman of the delegation to the international drug conference in Geneva in 1924. He took an active part in the suppression of the drug traffic and the care of addicts.

BULLETIN
New York, June 27.—(UP)—The tentative program of Maj. Charles E. Kingsford-Smith and his companions of the Southern Cross as announced officially today by Edward Bernays, representing the sponsors, calls for a non-stop flight next week from Washington to San Francisco.

BULLETIN
Washington, June 27.—(UP)—Capt. Charles E. Kingsford-Smith and the crew of the Southern Cross, will be received by President Hoover Monday, it was announced at the White House today.

The Southern Cross will fly here from Roosevelt Field, arriving at Bolling Field at 11 A. M., E. S. T. The aviators will be received at the White House at 12:30 P. M.

By MORRIS DE HAVEN TRACY.

New York, June 27.—(UP)—Captain Charles E. Kingsford-Smith and his three shipmates of the airplane Southern Cross came down to the city hall today to receive the official honors New York reserves for its distinguished guests.

On their own request the ceremony was perhaps the simplest the city has given any of the celebrities which have received its homage—yet there were some 5,000 people crowded in the open spaces of City Hall Park to cheer the four fliers as they came to meet Mayor James J. Walker.

Instead of the spectacular ceremonies of landing at the Battery and parading up Broadway, Kingsford-Smith, Evert Van Dyk, J. W. Stannage and Captain J. Patrick Saul chose to ride simply down Fifth Avenue from their hotel, escorted only by a group of motorcycle police.

Some Shoppers Cheered.
Shoppers on Fifth Avenue paused a moment to applaud and a few to cheer—but many hardly knew what was happening.

Then, at Fourteenth Street, their cars suddenly shifted into back lanes and abandoning Broadway, they slipped down Lafayette street to approach the city hall from the Park Row side.

As they swung into Park Row, they gained a glimpse of crowds in front of the city hall. There were cries of "Hello Charlie" to which Kingsford-Smith, his face tanned and weather beaten by the sun and winds of two oceans and Asia's deserts, rose in his car, waved and smiled.

The four fliers scrambled out of their cars and somewhat shyly climbed the steps to the platform where Mayor Walker was awaiting them.

They cast nervous glances over the crowd as Grover Whalen presented each to the Mayor.

"We really and truly appreciate the wonderful spirit of hospitality of the city of New York," said Kingsford-Smith, smiling gently as he was introduced.

He emphasized that the flight he and his companions had made was not in nature of a "stunt."

"It was for the benefit of the science of aviation," he said. "There is no room for stunt flying in the great cause of aviation."

Each Given Medal.
Whalen came forward and read to the fliers a scroll presented them by the city, recording the exploits of Kingsford-Smith from the day in 1928 when he started out with his now glorious Southern Cross from Oakland, Calif., across the Pacific to the time of the arrival in New York last night.

The four fliers listened soberly as words of high praise were heaped upon them. The crowd cheered, the band played "God Save the King" and followed it with "The Star Spangled Banner" while the throng in the park stood uncovered.

Mayor Walker then came forward to present medals of the city of New York to each of the four.

Storm Keeps Navy Dirigible In Air

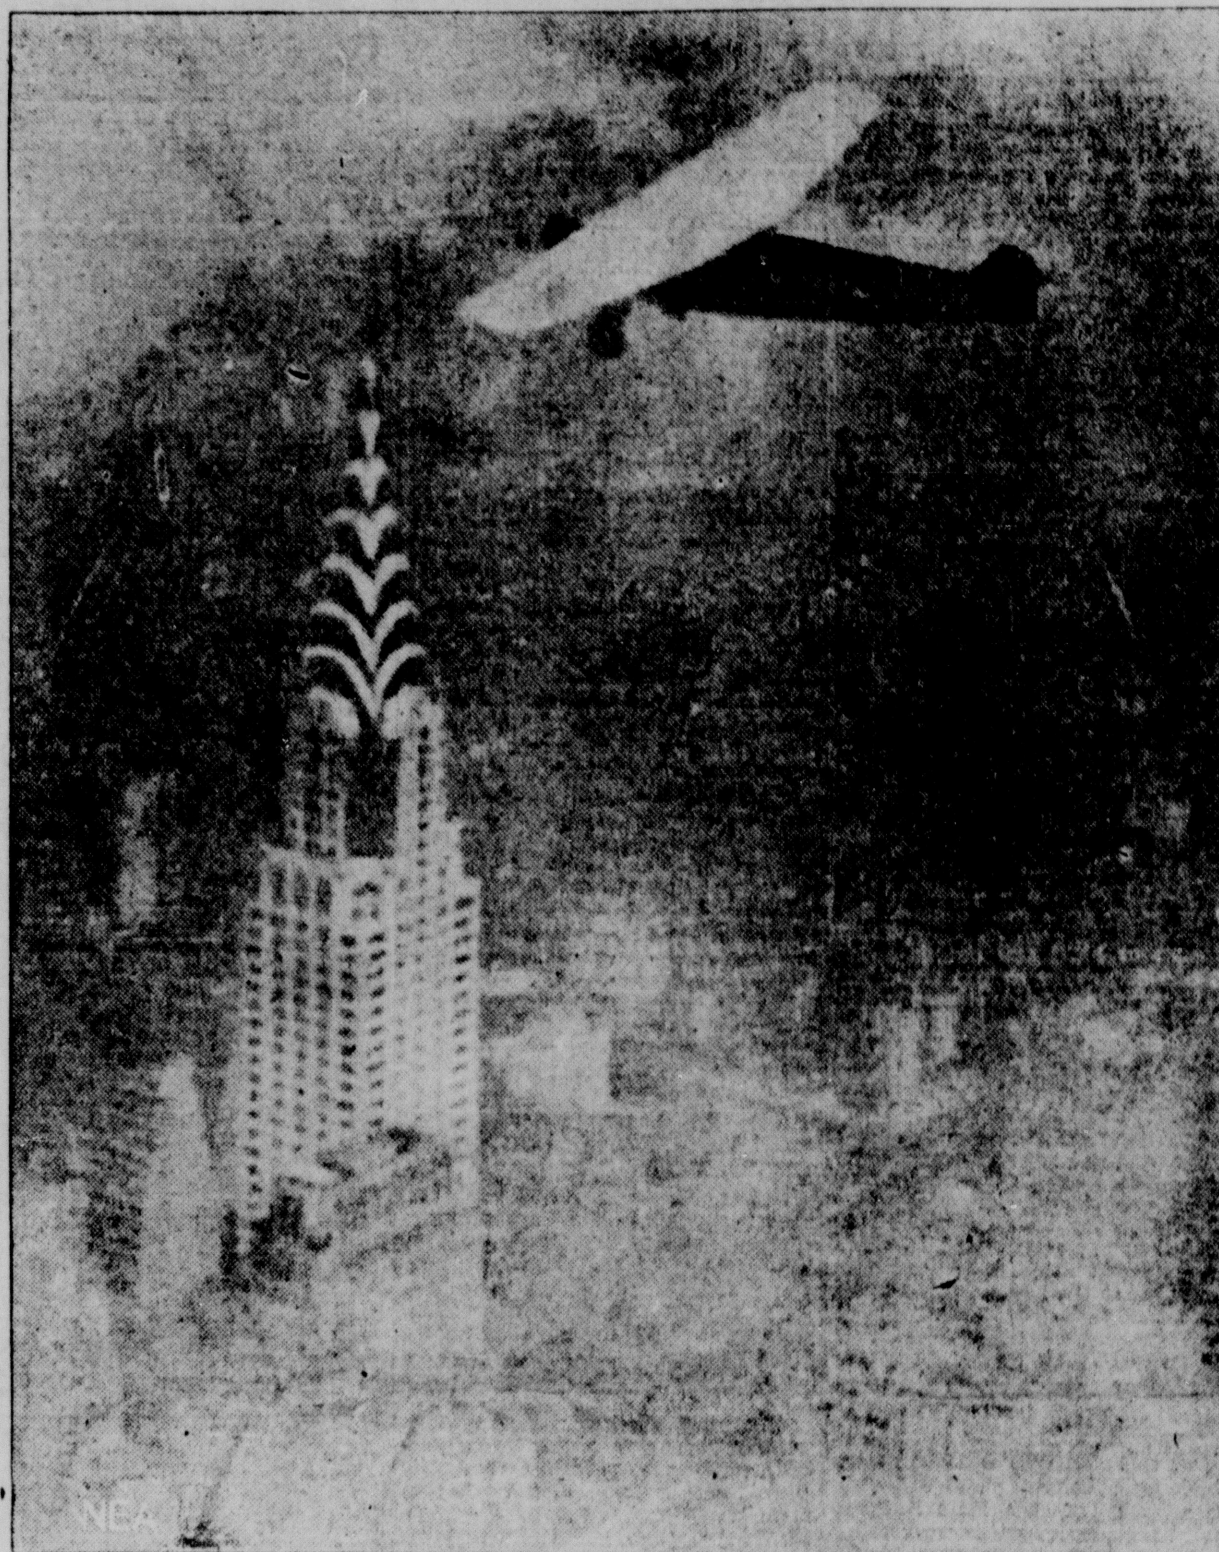

Lakehurst, N. J., June 27.—(UP)—The Navy dirigible Los Angeles reported by radio to the Naval Air Station today it was cruising safely 180 miles off the New Jersey coast and expected to return about noon to its hangar.

The dirigible returned to the air station at 7:30 P. M. last night after an all-day cruise over New York state carrying a crew of 34 men and 12 of fliers, under command of Lieut. Commander Vincent A. Clarke, but was prevented from landing by a sudden and terrific thunder storm. It turned away to ride out the storm.

Some fears outside had been voiced for the dirigible's safety when nothing had been heard from it all night.

Kingsford-Smith Reaches New York

This first telephoto, rushed to the Dixon Evening Telegraph by NEA Service, Inc., pictures the famous plane Southern Cross circling over the Chrysler building, New York's latest skyscraper, before landing at Roosevelt Field, Long Island. Major Charles Kingsford-Smith and his fellow air companions are the first fliers successful in completing an airplane flight from Europe to the United States across the North Atlantic.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARD ATTACKS ON CHAIN STORES

Community Meeting At Assembly Park Was Well Attended

More than 3,000 persons from Dixon and surrounding community, assembled at the Assembly Park last evening to attend the first community meeting sponsored by the Dixon Community Builders Association.

The fine program of entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed by those in attendance. The Dixon Boys' band furnished a band concert on the parade grounds north of the auditorium beginning at 7:30 and again in the auditorium, preceding the address by Luke Barnett.

About 40 members of the Freeport post No. 139, American Legion Drum and Bugle corps provided as fine an exhibition of drilling as has been witnessed in Dixon in years. The drill team is preparing to go to Boston to the national convention in October and is sponsoring a historic pageant in Taylor park Freeport, July 4 and 5. They also provided a brief program in the auditorium before returning home.

In Bitter Attack
The speaker of the evening, Luke Barnett in his remarks attempted to trace the development of chain stores and business monopolies through the early ages to the present day and at times launched bitter attacks against some of the best known stores which he placed in this class. He called attention to the investigations which are being conducted by the United States government, state legislatures and colleges of the country into the chain store and business monopoly evils, which he said effect the happiness and prosperity of the masses of people. He not only attacked the method of manufacturing of the chain stores but the system of merchandising as well and appealed to the judgment and intelligence of his listeners to decide this subject. He dwelt at great length on statistical matter to substantiate his charges.

"Waving Black Flag"
Business monopolies in this country will destroy the country as it has destroyed other countries, the speaker forecast, then cited nations from the days of Babylon up to the present. The black flag of piracy is waving from the roof tops of over

IOWA MURDERER ABANDONS AUTO AT NO. LIBERTY

Armed Poses Scouring Territory for Slaying Of Officers

Des Moines, Ia., June 27.—(AP)—City and county authorities of eastern Iowa today continued an intensive search for the slayer of Sheriff Fred Sweet of Washington county, and Night Marshall Aaron Bailey of Washington.

Positive clues were uncovered late yesterday when the car in which the killer escaped from Washington after the shooting was found at North Liberty, ten miles north of here. The slayer had stolen the car of H. J. Reynolds, Washington, after he had dashed out of the Sheriff's office. The fugitive had been apprehended by Sweet and Bailey, who were questioning him regarding a stolen car when they were shot.

Officers believe the killer drove from Washington to Iowa City where a man, answering his description—bushy hair, light suit, panama hat and about 5 feet 10 inches tall—stopped in a cleaning establishment to have his trousers hurriedly pressed.

It is believed that after leaving Iowa City, the man drove to Oxford and then turned northwest to North Liberty where an overheated engine and a fat tire necessitated the abandoning of the car.

Armed posses scoured the territory adjacent to Iowa City through out the night and before darkness fell yesterday two airplanes were engaged in the man hunt.

Still Explosion Burns Policemen

Chicago, June 27.—(AP)—Two highway policemen, lying in wait for moonshiners, were scalded and injured early today when a still they had under surveillance exploded.

Patrolman Walter Remillard was reported near death from burns. His companion, Sgt. John Orgel, was not seriously hurt.

Smelling mash, the patrolmen found the still of about 150 gallon capacity in a garage in Markham. They found no one on the premises, but there was a fire burning, indicating that the operators planned to return.

The officers concealed themselves close to the still. Twenty minutes later it exploded, showering them with the boiling mash.

EXPECT PARDON FOR TOM MOONEY AND COMPANION

California Court Will Recommend Pardon It Is Believed

By VINCENT MAHONEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

San Francisco, June 27.—(UP)—Probability that Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings will be freed from prison within a month was established today by the United Press from sources close to Governor C. C. Young.

Mooney and Billings now are serving their thirteenth year after conviction on charges of engineering the Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco in July of 1916.

Six persons were killed in the explosion. Three died later. Forty were wounded.

The state Supreme Court now is sitting as a Board of Review in the Billings case. From an authoritative source, the United Press learned definitely that Governor Young expects the court to recommend a pardon, and is accordingly completing plans for issuance of the orders which will free Billings and Mooney.

Expect Decision Soon
The Supreme Court decision is expected within a few days, and it was indicated today in official circles that action by the Governor confirming the recommendation will follow immediately.

Under a law enacted at the last session of the legislature, the Governor is not empowered to consider application for pardon from a two-time felon until the Supreme Court has recommended it.

Billings had served a term at Folsom prison for unlawful possession of dynamite before his conviction in the bombing.

The Billings case is the only one before the Supreme Court. Governor Young, however, has announced that he considers Mooney and Billings to be of the same footing, and whatever decision is made as a result of the Billings review also will be applied to Mooney.

Court Must Decide
Should the Supreme Court decide against Billings, the Governor cannot pardon him, and by his own statement will not pardon Mooney.

The celebration of the Fourth, insofar as pyrotechnics are concerned, is limited to the one day, Friday, and all fireworks must be discharged on the premises of the celebrants.

Girl's Martyrdom Excites Bolivians

Lima, Peru, June 27.—(AP)—Spurred by the martyrdom of a beautiful young Bolivian girl, who with stirring words had urged the men of La Paz to strike in defense of their liberties, a mob in that city Sunday waged a vain and deadly battle with police.

The gendarmes, mounting machine guns on trucks, repulsed wave after wave of the enraged citizens, until finally forty or more lay dead on the streets of the mountain capital and more than 60 lay wounded.

The demonstrators then took the bodies of the girl and a boy student companion whom the police also killed and carried them to every part of the city, exhibiting them as evidence of what was called an outrage perpetrated by those whose duty was to defend.

Again Monday when a public burial was sought for the dead the police dispersed the crowds with gun fire and others were killed and wounded. Public excitement grew and continues.

LIGHTNING IS CAUSE BLAST FATAL TO 30

Dynamite In Holes In Bed Of River Exploded By Bolt

By The Associated Press

Forty-one persons were killed yesterday and last night in electric, hail, and rain storms that swept down over Ontario, Newfoundland and the northeastern section of the United States.

At Brockville, Ont., thirty were killed when lightning fired explosives aboard a drill boat in the St. Lawrence river.

Four passengers were killed and one was believed to have been fatally injured when a passenger coach of a train bound from Winnipeg to Toronto plunged into the flooded Vermillion river at Capreol, Ont.

Several trains were stalled and many motorists were stranded by landslides and washouts at Sudbury, Ont., but no lives were lost.

A hail storm sank 30 boats at Lumsden, N. F., and three fishermen were drowned.

Two were drowned when a gale overturned a boat at Buffalo where buildings were unroofed and a 35,000 barrel oil tank was fired by lightning at Olean, N. Y.

Lightning killed a 9-year-old girl near Hackettstown, N. J., and a farmer near Carlisle, Pa. Heavy damage was reported in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and other Atlantic seaboard states.

30 KILLED BY BLAST

Brockville, Ont., June 27.—(AP)—Explosion by a bolt of lightning of several charges of dynamite placed in the rocky bed of the St. Lawrence river was blamed today for the death of 30 men, killed when the blast tore the drill boat, J. B. King, to bits.

Only 12 members of the crew of 42 were rescued. There were picked up by the U. S. Coast Guard cutter 211. Several of them were severely injured and were brought to hospitals here.

The drill boat was engaged in blasting a channel through Brockville Narrows off Cockburn Island on the eastern fringe of the Thousand Islands group yesterday when the explosion occurred.

Several holes had been drilled in the rock and filled with dynamite and the day crew was drilling additional holes to place more dynamite when an electrical storm broke over the river about 4:30 P. M. Many of the night shift were asleep below the decks.

*Witnesses said they saw a flash of lightning dart down to the boat, followed immediately by a terrific explosion. The air was filled with debris and the drill boat had disappeared.

Some reports were that there had been a large quantity of dynamite aboard the drill boat, which had been exploded by the flash. Luther Kuchenbecker, superintendent in charge of the work, who was ashore at the time, said there was no dynamite aboard the boat. He said the explosion was caused by lightning following the steel drills which were working in the rock or wires leading to the charges which had been placed.

Leo Marion, an inspector of the Public Works Department at Ottawa, who was one of those rescued, estimated there were three tons of dynamite in the drill holes and expressed the opinion that there also was a considerable quantity in the boat. He charged that an unidentified boat passed at the time of the explosion, but did nothing to aid in the rescue.

Coast Guardsmen Witnesses
The explosion was witnessed by the crew of the U. S. Coast Guard cutter 211, which was passing in charge of Captain G. B. Lok, with M. R. Rasmussen, Chief Inspector of the Buffalo district aboard.

The cutter hastily made for the spot and lowered a life boat. A number of men were seen clinging to the wreckage and while those near at hand were hauled aboard the cutter the life boat picked up the others.

The J. B. King was one of the largest boats of her type in Canada. She was 150 feet long with a beam of 50 feet and was equipped with 12 steam driven drills.

Each drill sank a six and one-half inch hole in the granite shoals to a minimum of 27 feet. After a number of holes had been drilled and a charge of dynamite placed in each one, connected by wires to a detonator aboard the boat, the J. B. King would be moved off to about 1,000 feet and the charges exploded.

Chicago, June 27—(UP)—Today's Herald and Examiner said it had been informed by Senator Gerald P. Nye, chairman of the Senate campaign funds investigating committee, that subpoenas for inquiry into the campaign expenses of Senator Charles S. Deneen and his successful opponent, Ruth Hanna McCormick, will be issued Monday.
Senator C. C. Dill will meet here with Senator Nye, the newspaper said, and in all probability the inquiry will open July 7. Leaders and campaign managers of both candidates will be summoned.
The newspaper understood the committee was especially interested in reports that approximately $750,000 in addition to Mrs. McCormick's reported expenditures of $252,570, was spent by other persons in the interest of her candidacy. This charge was made by the Democratic State Committee.
Senator Deneen put his expenses at $24,485.22, and James Hamilton Lewis, the Democratic nominee, said he spent $35.

THIRTY YEARS OF BLINDNESS COMES TO END
Chicago Man's Sight Miraculously Restored To Him
Chicago, June 27—(UP)—A man, who battled his way to fortune despite his blindness, looked today upon a world which he had not seen for 30 years and pronounced it good—different.
"Only the flowers and trees are the same," said J. F. Fish, wealthy Chicagoan, whose sight miraculously was restored in the left eye as he sat in the twilight listening to his wife read.
"I always have thought of the women as wearing bustles and trailing skirts," he said. "The men, when I last saw them had mustaches and sideburns. Always I pictured the street cars as the little cable cars and horse cars I knew before I became blind."
"Never would I have dared to walk through the city as I have all these years if I had known those buildings were towering above me and the automobiles were rushing everywhere. Everything seems to be real, but it is good, very good, and beautiful."
Injured in 1899
It was while he was on his honeymoon in Ohio late in 1899 that a tree fell upon Fish, paralyzing his optic nerves and making him blind.
He spent more than $50,000 in efforts to regain his sight, but, undaunted by this failure or his handicap, he founded the Northwestern Business College and for 28 years has been successful as a teacher and business man.
Fish was unable to explain the restoration of his sight unless it was that time healed the injury he received 30 years ago. He has been taking treatments for the last nine years.
All through the years, he said, his greatest desire was to see his wife again and she was the first person whom he did see when his eyesight returned as he sat listening to her read.

Beautiful Home Wedding Solemnized at A. J. Trump Home

Miss Mary Lucile Trump eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Trump of Polo, and Russell M. Cooper of Newton, Ia., were united in marriage last evening at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents.

Rev. H. L. Trump of the Church of the Brethren and grandfather of the attractive bride, performed the impressive single ring ceremony in the presence of fifty guests, relatives and friends. The home had been decorated beautifully in orchid and gold, a profusion of flowers, roses, and lilies adding fragrance and beauty. The ceremony was solemnized beneath an archway formed of evergreen. The charming bride wore white georgette and carried a lovely white bouquet of white roses and lilies. Miss Ruth Trump, sister of the bride, was prettily attired in orchid and gold and she carried yellow roses, and attended the bride as maid of honor. Paul Reynolds, an instructor in Carlisle University at Utica, N. Y., a classmate of the bridegroom was the best man.

The bride who is a charming and popular young woman is a graduate of the Polo high school of 1925 and of Cornell College of 1930, and has many friends in this vicinity.

The bridegroom is State secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Michigan with headquarters at Detroit. He is a man of splendid character and high attainments.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper will make their home in Hillsdale, Michigan, on their return from their wedding tour.

Mrs. James Goyen Hostess at Charming Party on Thursday

Mrs. James Goyen of Dixon was hostess yesterday afternoon at a most enjoyable party at her home, entertaining guests with five tables of bridge. The happy affair honored Miss Margaret Hooley of Rochelle who is to be married in the very near future to Jack Cowley of this city; and Miss Rose McCarthy of Rochelle who is soon to become the bride of Paul Henry.

Mrs. Goyen presented the honored guests with favors and Mrs. William Loftus of Dixon received the favor for high honors at bridge; and Mrs. Walter Sommers of Rochelle received the same favor. After bridge a daintily appointed luncheon was served at the quartet tables. The colors decorating were pink and green, and each table bore a lovely bouquet of pink roses and green crystal baskets. Tallies and place cards harmonized. The entire afternoon was one of exceptional enjoyment to all attending.

The King of Sweden, represented by his minister, and the British Duke of York, also represented, were among the royal sponsors. The Bishop of Oslo officiated, expressing Norway's joy at the birth of the first royal child born in Norway in hundreds of years.

After the ceremony the child was lifted up to a window fronting on the

Bible Class Held Enjoyable All Day Picnic at Brauer's

The Women's Bible class of the Methodist church, taught by Mrs. Clara Rowe, held their annual picnic yesterday at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brauer in the country. The enjoyable affair was attended by fifty adults, twenty children and a number of visitors. After the bountiful picnic dinner a business meeting was held.

The devotions were conducted by Mrs. A. T. Stephenson. Mrs. A. Hardy, a new member of the class, entertained delightfully with two humorous readings.

Of much interest and a great attraction to the children and young folks present, was the sport of horseback riding, the host kindly supplying the horses and superintending the riding of novices.

It was a full day and a happy one, everyone returning home as the shadows lengthened, with regret, to anticipate with pleasure the next meeting at the Brauer home.

sayings of 51 exuberant boys at Camp Amos Horton as they roamed through the woods in search of aeroplane smugglers, who were supposed to be in the vicinity. They were a group of the staff and a few of the older campers. A rather unique way was used to announce the game. A false telegram was typed out, and during supper one of the staff members rushed into the dining hall, and handed it to the Camp Director, E. W. Schellenberger. Every member of the staff knew the contents of the missive, but no one cracked a smile. The camp director solemnly and impressively read it. For a moment there was silence, but it was soon followed by peals of laughter as the older campers saw the fallacy in the message. Mr. Adelber V. Newman, assistant camp director, soon dispelled the knowledge from the faces of the older campers, and aroused the imagination of the younger ones. Promptly at 8 o'clock all of the boys gathered at the flag pole. Then started an hour and a half packed full of thrills for every back in camp. At 9:30 they were back in camp, and most of the alleged smugglers had been captured. Shortly after 9:30, the low notes of taps softly resounded throughout the camp.

Last night the camp experienced its first storm. The rain came down in torrents and even the best of the tents proved to be not waterproof. The guards were kept busy all night long pounding in tent stakes. A high wind was blowing, which made the night all the more disagreeable, but with the coming of morning the storm had passed, and all of the tents were still up.

A new innovation in camp this year is the canoe trip. Every boy in camp has the opportunity to take a canoe trip on the Hennepin Canal from Sterling to Tampico and return. Three trips are given on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week, one of the three troops in camp going each day. So far they have proved very successful.

Insane Canadian Gardner Ran Amuck

Montreal, Que., June 27.—(UP)—A gardener at fashionable Metis Beach, Canadian summer resort, went insane, killed one man, and injured seriously a woman, advices to Montreal said today.

After attacking the two, the gardener went into a barn and went to sleep. He was found there by police. A contractor named Burke was killed and Mrs. R. J. Dawes of Montreal was injured seriously. Mrs. Dawes was inspecting a new home she was having built when the gardener seized a pistol and shot both persons. He fired three bullets into Mrs. Dawes' body—one penetrating her lung—and then turned the pistol at Burke. Burke fell with the first shot and the man left. He reloaded his pistol, returned and fired six more shots into Burke's body.

IMPORTANT AIR MAIL CHANGE

On July 1st a new air mail schedule will go into effect between Miami, Fla., and points in South America, whereby there will be two trips weekly instead of one at present. It might be of interest to post office patrons to know that a letter or parcel deposited in Dixon post office, for example, say today not later than 12:30 P. M. will reach Montevideo, Uruguay, S. A., one week from today at 5 P. M., covering a distance of almost 6700 miles, the flying time being less than 3 1/4 days as planes are tied up at night.

In order that one may better comprehend what a vast saving in time the air mail branch means, it is only necessary to consider that up to the time air mail service was inaugurated the only way to dispatch mail was by boat, and that required three weeks' time at least, and in South America, one need not stretch imagination very much to conclude the flying time will be three days instead of three weeks.

The schedule on this flight provides for stops at points in Cuba, Canal Zone, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Argentina, with the final stop at Montevideo Uruguay, with rates of postage from 20c for first ounce to Canal Zone to 55c for the same weight in Uruguay.

A MATTER OF CONTRAST.

The mother of seven small children was arrested in New York City the other day for operating a still. She is in a police station cell; her month-old twin daughters are being cared for in a hospital, a Children's Society has two more and neighbors are looking after the other three.

The still, a small one, had been in operation only a few days. A city policeman made the raid after a tenement inspector had discovered it.

Now a sob-sister could probably write quite a story about this mother. But that isn't what we're trying to do here. Our object right now is to call your attention to another incident that happened in the same city on the same day.

While this woman's still was being raided, a fire was breaking out in a six-story warehouse in another part of New York. It was a disastrous fire, taking the lives of three men; and when the flames died down and the firemen went into the ruins, they found that this warehouse had housed an enormous distillery—the largest, it is said, ever operated in New York since prohibition went into effect.

The still was so elaborate, in fact, that hundreds of tons of machinery were installed. No one had ever molested it, however, if it had not been for that accidental fire the thing probably would be operating yet.

You might take time out for a minute to contrast these two stills.

One—a small one, relatively unimportant to the liquor supply of a big city—gets raided two or three days after it is put into operation.

The other—a tremendous one, so big that it is almost impossible to understand how it could even have been installed without attracting the attention of some official agency—had enjoyed no one knows how many months of immunity. In the end it was destroyed, not by the police or federal agents, but by an accidental fire.

This contrast is something you can't laugh off.

A FLOATING POWER HOUSE.

Some months ago severe drought in the state of Washington reduced the supply of hydro-electric power and threatened the electricity supply of the city of Tacoma. By special arrangement with the Navy Department, the big airplane carrier Lexington was docked at Tacoma and her turbines were used to generate electricity for the city until the crisis had passed.

Now it becomes apparent that private capital has read a lesson in the episode. According to the Industrial Bulletin issued by Arthur D. Little, Inc., the New England Public Service Company, which supplies power to seaboard Maine and New Hampshire, has spent $1,000,000 in transforming the old cargo ship Jacona into a floating power house of 20,000 kilowatts capacity.

This ship will be used up and down the coast. Whenever there is a shortage of power in any coast city, the Jacona will come in, cut in on the city's high tension system and begin grinding out electricity. The operating company's power supply thus becomes highly flexible—and private industry has learned another lesson from the federal government.

THE BACK SEAT DRIVER.

The back-seat driver has come into his own at last. The Georgia court of appeals has thrown out a woman's appeal for damages in an auto accident because she, riding in the family auto which her husband was driving, did not warn her husband of the approach of another car.

Thus, evidently, back-seat driving is not only a right but a duty. Not only the driver must keep his eyes on the road, but his passengers must do the same. The whole party has to be vigilant.

All of this may be excellent law, but it strikes us as poor common sense. Any competent driver can watch the hazards of traffic without help. Advice from the back seat, despite the learned court, is more apt to confuse than help him.

A SPORT OR A RACKET?

Now that the most recent heavyweight "championship" fight has ended in the usual unsatisfactory manner, it is to be hoped that the country can get back to normal and recognize the fact that boxing, in this country, is much more like a racket than a sport.

All sports in this country are commercialized, of course. College football suffers from this blight, and professional baseball is quite frankly a business proposition. But the element of the play has never been eliminated in either of these. Each can still be called a sport.

But boxing! It is getting to be the regular thing for the customer to be left holding the bag. Indeed, it is getting so common that the customer hardly deserves any sympathy.

The millionaire New York broker who used to give away $100 tips and is now broke, probably is cursing the hard times and wishing for a return of prosperity.

When all the geese were out of sight, the Travel Man exclaimed, "All right, let's hop back into our machine and go right on our way. There's heaps of scenery to see, so let's enjoy it while we can. When we arrive in Moscow, there'll be lots of time to play."

So, on they went along the road, very happy, laughing loud. "Let's sing a song," cried Coppy. "Come on Clowny, you and I. We'll harmonize with something sweet and I'll just bet 'twill be a treat. Don't anybody back out now. At least we all can try."

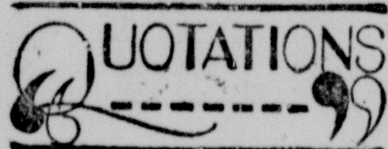

And so they sang out in a roar. One song was finished. Then came more. At last the Travel Man exclaimed, "Now I will sing alone. You Tynmites sit and listen well. It may be classy. Who can tell? You all can clap, if I am good, and if I'm bad, just groan."

"I know four little lads," sang he, "who are as noisy as can be. They travel round the big wide world and see a lot of sights. Of course they love to play. That's what they do the live long day. And now I'll tell you who they are—the four fat Tynmites!"

This made the Tynites laugh with glee. And Clowny promptly shouted, "Gee, you sure know how to sing a song." "Oh, thanks!" the big man said. Then they rode on for miles and miles. Each Tyn's face was soon all smiles because the Travel Man exclaimed, "There's Moscow, just ahead."

They reached the city. My, 'twas big. Said Carpy, "I could dance a jig. I've heard a lot of Moscow. Now, we're right here on the ground." They rode on in the nice fresh air and soon they reached the public square. They stopped to feed the pigeons that were flying all around.

(The Tynmites see a camel and hay cart in the next story.)

PARNELL'S BIRTH

On June 27, 1846, Charles Parnell, noted Irish statesman and Parliamentary leader, conspicuous for promoting the cause of Home Rule for Ireland, was born at Avondale, Ireland, the son of an old Protestant family.

After his education at Cambridge and a period of travel in the United States, Parnell entered public life in 1875 as a member of Parliament for Meath. From the outset he showed remarkable ability for leadership in politics and fought for his principles boldly.

Before two years had passed Parnell formed a party of Nationalists to fight for Home Rule for Ireland in all local affairs, and for reform in the method of land ownership. He continued his agitation against the bitter opposition of both the great English parties until he was arrested and imprisoned.

After spending a year in jail Parnell proposed a bill in Parliament to reduce rents, but it was rejected. Just as he was at the height of political power he became involved in a divorce case. This proved fatal to his reputation for, as a result, he was deposed by the majority of his party.

current monthly. Some women dread this change and anticipate the discomfort which common talk has convinced them is unavoidable at this period of their lives. Old wives' tales recount traditional difficulties, and so women have been led to expect a trying time.

A decrease in frequency, a decrease in the amount, or even the complete cessation of menstruation is at the proper age a natural and orderly proceeding which should cause no apprehension. Cessation merely marks the close of the reproductive phase of adult life which a wise nature limits to the period of greatest vigor in order that the offspring shall have the best chance to survive. It is not responsible for altered disposition nor for the development of mental disease, and for the great majority of women it brings considerable relief.

Every age has its own changes and years bring experience, judgment, and new activities, aims and desires as well as physical growth and evolution. Ordinarily we are only vaguely conscious of the processes of change, if we are aware of them at all. But the idea that "I am getting old" sometimes leads a woman in the forty-fifty decade to feel a sense of disappointment over the passing of youthful dreams and this feeling often finds expression in symptoms entirely imaginary or in the enlargement by this mind of trifling feelings which otherwise would have passed unnoticed. Unstable, imaginative women are inclined to blame on nature everything which they experience at this time. They look for and find the symptoms they seek. Patent medicine makers, knowing this, by suggestive advertising make sick people out of those uncritical persons who desire to be convinced they are ill because they have acquired the idea that illness is inevitable. Usual explanations for middle-aged ill health in women deserve to be disregarded. There is no reason for a woman to have ill health at that age or to be changed in disposition or appearance. Health and looks are often matters of temperament. A good disposition, a cheerful outlook and proper bodily hygiene will keep one young in everything but years. A gracefully aging woman can be and generally is lovely.

Were it not for the external evidences a woman would not know what was taking place. Men experience a similar moderation in activity but having no outward manifestations fail to realize it. Women would be better if they thought of it less and regarded it as an occasion long prepared for and entirely natural.

Increased frequency and increased volume generally are due to local conditions which may prove serious and for these conditions one should consult a physician. But do not be concerned about a reduction or complete cessation or expect to have ill health before, during or after the menopause.

AUTO RACES AT STERLING WILL DRAW MANY FANS

Sun. Afternoon Meeting Arranged: Speed Demons Entered

Sterling—(Special)—The initial auto race meet of the season at Speedbowl park three-quarter-mile speedway will be held on Sunday, June 29. Last fall and this spring several hundred loads of dirt and clay were placed along the east side of the track and around the home stretch. This gives a bank for the speeding cars to run against and should permit of much greater speed than ever before. The track was oiled last week and this will eliminate all dust.

In view of the fact that no other race meet is scheduled any place around here on next Sunday, it will mean that the drivers will all come here to compete. It is expected that the greatest field of cars ever assembled at Speedbowl park will be here.

With the improved track conditions and the lineup of fast cars it is anticipated that the present track records at the local speedway will be broken. Gus Schrader, the Iowa dirt track champion, holds the lap record of 36.8 seconds for the local track. Schrader has a brand new machine this season and he has been breaking records at every meet he has attended and he is expected to set some new marks in the Sunday races. Maynard Clark has also been setting some records and is anxious to set a mark here.

It is possible that Johnny Sawyer of Milwaukee will drive a Miller Special here instead of his Model A. A score of drivers, several of whom have never driven here are expected to lineup for their time trials Sunday morning. The races will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and will be run with the least possible delay.

Baseball Gossip

BY UNITED PRESS
Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn Robins today nominated Adolfo Luque, crafty Cuban veteran, for the important task of turning back the Chicago Cubs in the second game of the current four game "crucial series."
The Robins now hold a two game lead over the Cubs in the National League pennant race and if they win today they will be assured of leaving Chicago still in possession of first place, regardless of the outcome of the final games of the series.
Dazzy Vance reestablished his one time mastery over the Cubs to give Brooklyn a 7 to 1 victory in the series opener yesterday.

Philadelphia's Athletics held their 1-2 game lead in the American League flag chase, winning the first of a four game series against St. Louis, 8 to 3.
Washington scored seven runs in the first inning and defeated Detroit, 12 to 4, to keep pace with the Athletics. Pipino Marberry pitched for the Senators.
Henry Johnson checked Cleveland's late rally and the New York Yankees defeated the Indians, 13 to 11. The Yankees tallied all of their runs in the first six innings.
Milton Gaston pitched and batted the Boston Red Sox to a 9 to 7 victory over Chicago. Gaston allowed the White Sox 11 hits but his double clinched a five run rally which clinched the game in the fifth inning.

Clarence Mitchell, baseball's only southpaw spitball pitcher, held his former team mates to nine scattered hits while the New York Giants hammered five St. Louis Pitchers for 20 hits and a 12 to 4 victory.
Pittsburgh took both games of a doubleheader, from Philadelphia. His resignation was announced yesterday in the third inning, to force in the only run of the game, Pittsburgh winning, 1 to 0. The Pirates went on a hitting spree to win the second contest, 11 to 5.

HAFEY BACK IN GAME

Chicago, June 27—(AP)—"Chuck" Klein of the slugging but errant Phillies is the first major league player to hang up 100 hits in the 1930 campaign.

Klein got three hits for his 100 yesterday in a losing doubleheader with Pittsburgh while Terry of the Giants fell short by one when he got only one blow in a winning game against St. Louis.

Hodapp of Cleveland has the most hits in the American League with 96 yet neither he nor Klein lead their leagues in hitting.

APOLOGIZES TO REPORTER

New York, June 27—(AP)—Edward G. Barron, business manager of the New York Yankees, has apologized for an assault on Bill Slocum, veteran baseball writer of the New York American.

Jacob Ruppert, owner of the club, yesterday expressed "profound regret" over the incident, and announced the appointment of George Ferry, his personal secretary, to handle all matters in which the club makes contacts with the press. This work previously has been handled by Barrow.

Barrow's attack on Slocum was the outgrowth of an article in which Slocum had criticized the secrecy with which Barrow surrounded all news of trades and other general interest.

Barrow's apology for the attack was made at a meeting of the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers of America.

KLEIN HITS 100TH
St. Louis, June 26—(AP)—Chuck Hafey, regular Cardinal outfielder who has been out of the lineup several weeks undergoing treatment for eye trouble and taking a rest, appeared in the St. Louis-New York game yesterday to bat for Grabowski in the fifth. His effort was a high fly to right field.

PITCHER'S NOSE BROKEN
St. Louis, June 27—(AP)—Joe Heying, right hand pitcher for the Giants, suffered a broken nose when struck by a batted ball during pre-game practice yesterday.

CORNELL AGAIN RULES COLLEGE RACING EVENTS

Captured Honors At Big Regatta Yesterday After 15 Years

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27—(AP)—Cornell once again ruled the intercollegiate seas.

Cornell has waited fifteen years to pick up the thread of victory cut short by the end of Pop Courtney's regime, and has been buffeted about while a new generation of rowing greatness, featuring Washington, Columbia and the Navy, came along to dominate the waters.

Yesterday, through rough water and the mist that partially shrouded the Hudson, Cornell came back to capture the four mile varsity race, defeating eight of the finest crews the east, middle west and far west could produce.

Cornell rowed to victory in one of the biggest upsets in the history of the regatta. Syracuse turned up with almost equal unexpectedness as the only serious challenger while the highly favored crews of Columbia, the 1929 champions; Washington and the Navy, each three time winners, struggled far behind.

Cornell whipped Syracuse by a good three lengths as these two old rivals fought it out alone in the last mile. Scarcely less surprising was the performance of Massachusetts Tech, which set a sensational pace for nearly two miles, yielded doggedly to Cornell's rush and still had the stuff to finish a good third.

Navy, as the climax to the worst afternoon the sailors have ever experienced in what is usually their own special element, swamped them within 100 yards of the finish and went down.

Tradition, the coaching of the new mentor of Cornell rowing—Jim Wray—and the inspiration of a brilliant pace setter in 19-year-old Robert Wilson, stroke, all contributed to Cornell's astonishing triumph.

Cornell captured the junior varsity three mile race in smashing style, beating the favored Washington crew by five and a half lengths. Syracuse beat Cornell's freshman boat by two lengths in the two mile race that opened the regatta.

Varsity—Four Miles—Cornell, 21:42; Syracuse, 21:54 1-5; M. I. T., 22:19; California, 22:24 4-5; Columbia, 22:33 2-5; Washington, 22:41; Pennsylvania, 22:54; Wisconsin, 22:59 1-5; Navy, swamped.

Junior Varsity—Three Miles—Cornell, 16:39; Washington, 17:01; Columbia, 17:11; Syracuse, 17:25 4-5; Pennsylvania, 17:30; Navy, 17:30 1-5.

Freshman—Two Miles—Syracuse, 11:18 1-5; Cornell, 11:25 4-5; Columbia, 11:29 2-5; Pennsylvania, 11:46 2-5; Washington, 11:47 3-5; Navy, 11:52 1-5; California, 11:57 3-5; M. I. T., 12:01 1-5.

"For the past ten or fifteen years I had had my hands crippled with that awful rheumatism, the joints would swell, stiffen and were sore as boils and pained me so. REVIVE CURFEW LAW
Lake City, Ark. June 27—(UP)—After-dark visits which the younger tribe of this section has been paying to orchards, strawberry patches and gardens, has resulted in the return of the curfew law. Parents have agreed with the city administration that curfew represented by the old slave mill whistle shall sound each evening at 8:45 o'clock, calling youthful wanderers home.

LITTLE EMIL IN TROUBLE
Detroit—(UP)—Emil Onski is only three years old but already life with all its worries and cares is weighing him down. In spite of his tender years he will shortly be the defendant in an $11 damage suit—the youngest person ever to appear in such a suit in Wayne county. Recently a hefty brick crashed through the windshield of Thomas Brown's car and he has charged that Emil threw the brick—maimously and deliberately. Emil mourns a home now for besides the damage suit, he has the mumps.

RAPES AMOS 'N' ANDY

Hot Springs, Ark.—(UP)—The Rev. Arthur D. Williams, negro minister has started a campaign to keep "Amos 'n' Andy," famous radio stars, off the air. Williams complained to his congregation that the noted pair should be banned because they are portraying a side of our race we least desire to have portrayed. The characters they portray are lazy, shiftless, and drifting.

DEATH WINS DIVORCE

ERRORGRAMS

That's Scrambled

ETC BUK

Usually out on bail.

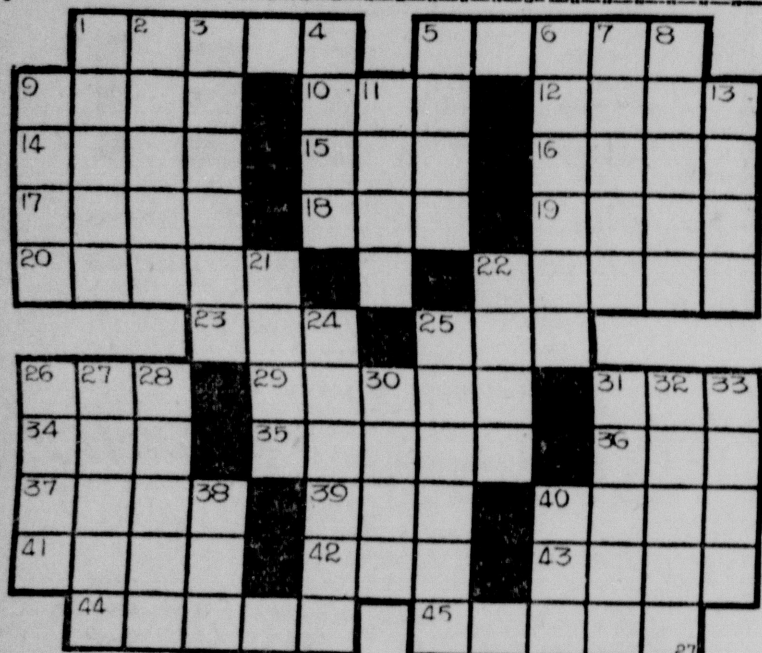

(Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below—and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it. Tomorrow we'll explain the mistake and tell you the word. Then you can see how near a hundred you bat.

THURSDAY'S CORRECTIONS

(1) At 9 A. M. in New York, it is 2 P. M. in London, instead of bedtime. (2) Time is one hour earlier in each time belt westward, while the Chicago, Kansas City and San Francisco clocks indicate that it's later. (3) There should not be an hour's difference in the Chicago and Kansas City clocks, because they are in the same time belt. (4) The figure "4" on the Chicago clock is different than on the other three clocks. (5) The scrambled word is EVERYONE.

When through a spiritual sense of things we shall have gained sufficient wisdom and understanding to attain to a proper knowledge of God and His works, and become willing and useful instruments for good in His hands, our place, our work, and our reward in life will have been established.

Charles M. Jay.

Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths—Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding. Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand riches and honour.

June 13, 20, 27

At the end he told her, with a little chuckle, that she could not at all expect such music as she had danced to today. Perhaps she did not know that the young man was Gregor Gosselvitach. Judy was deeply abashed as he pronounced the name of the greatest living pianist.

Altogether she was so overwhelmed that when all the arrangements had been made for her first lesson, her little face puckered up like a child's, and she burst into a tempest of tears. Guaranvius, familiar with the artistic temperament, let her cry.

The famous teacher and the young musician took their leave shortly afterward. Gideon insisted on Judy drinking a cup of tea.

"You are worn out," he said. "You don't know it, but you were simply immense. You will be a divine dancer!"

"I thought I was very bad," she faltered. "I was terribly frightened I thought I had disgusted him."

"He never says much," Gideon replied. "He said all sorts of things to me. And, you see, he has taken you on. That is everything."

They sat in another beautiful room, dark, like the others, and with three or four priceless old masters on the walls. The dominant color was a strong blue.

Judy drank three cups of tea, but she could eat nothing, and as soon as she had finished she rose to go.

GIDEON accompanied her to the door. As he opened it, he was behind her. She felt him draw nearer, and the next moment he had taken her hand and was holding it to his lips.

"You little witch!" he murmured. She snatched her hand away as if his kiss had been a poisonous sting.

Gideon's pale eyes were ugly just for a second as he looked into Judy's red, furious face, and the thin, bad-tempered line of his mouth was vicious.

"How dare you?" she gasped. "How dare you do that? I hate you! I'll never speak to you again!"

She rubbed her hand violently where his lips had touched it. His face cleared, and he smiled at her in a humbly deprecatory way.

"It was only an act of homage," he said. "Do believe me. I was carried away by your art."

"Then I don't like it," she said. "Please understand that. I've seen a lot of life, and I know what men mean when they offer girls help. Well, I don't want any of your help. I've fixed it all up with Mr. What's-his-name."

"I know," said Gideon, more humble still. "I beg your pardon. It was unwarrantable. I want you above all things to trust me."

"That's not the way to go about it, then!"

"I know. And I shall never forgive myself if I lose your friendship. I will never offend again, I promise you." He was almost comical in his apologies. "After all, in France nobody would think any thing of my kissing your hand."

"Well, we're not in France," Judy said curtly. "And I don't like your kissing my hand."

"I swear it shall never happen again!"

"I hope not. Anyway, I shan't see anything of you, because I'm going to be very busy. I'm off now."

She was slightly mollified. He really seemed alarmed at the consequences of his temerity. Moreover,

GEORGE COCHRAN, PRESIDENT OF THE PACIFIC MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, SAYS:

THAT all persons who succeed in whatever line of endeavor they are engaged in must do a lot of thinking.

Successful people have their business or vocation constantly on their minds, turning over the various angles and problems continuously. In this way they figure out the probable future and the best methods of conducting their affairs and promoting their various enterprises. Such thinking, of course, must be continuous and trained.

Some people think around in circles but the successful person thinks scientifically and prepares for all emergencies and all contingencies.
